Citizenship Campaign

A report on a full success and on age limits.

22, 30, 32 years or no age limit at all!

The principle of passing on Swiss citizenship by the mother, even if she is resident abroad, has now been accepted by both Federal Chambers. After the National Council had already debated the matter in the autumn, the Council of States discussed it in the December session.

It must be stated that these positive decisions are based on the political line anchored in the Federal Constitution on 14th June 1981, when the principle of equality between men and women was accepted and after the electorate and the Cantons had accepted transmission of Swiss citizenship by mothers.

Now it is legally possible for children of Swiss mothers and foreign fathers to receive Swiss citizenship without having to give up their present, i. e. their fathers' nationality. They can become dual nationals. All children born to a married couple with mixed nationalities can from now on benefit from the new regulations, by applying to the nearest Swiss authorities. The regulations will come into force probably by the middle of 1985. This equally applies to a large number of persons from such marriages, born previously. For one has also considered a retrospective age limit. The Federal Council, based on the practice up to now, decided on the 22nd year as age limit, and it submitted this proposal to Parliament.

A commission of the Council of States, which considered the matter a few weeks later, surprisingly proposed a retrospective age limit of 32, referring to the fact that Swiss women married to foreigners have been able to keep Swiss nationality since 1st January 1953. And the commission was of opinion that logically therefore, their children, too, should be able to acquire Swiss nationality from the same date.

A minority in the Commission even considered no age limit at all, which would have enabled men and women of advanced age to become Swiss citizens. This very generous proposal was, however, defeated in the Council of States by 27 votes against 13, which nevertheless represents a success for the minority of the commission. Dr. Elizabeth Kopp, Federal Councillor, who incidentally appeared in Parliament in her new office for the first time on that very day, supported the majority decision of the commission of the Council of States and pleaded for an age limit of 32. We hope that this positive attitude towards Swiss abroad, for which we are very grateful, will also mark the activities of our first woman Federal Councillor in the future.

In the final vote in the Council of States, the revision of the law was accepted without opposition by 37 votes and the retrospective age limit was fixed at 32.

In the subsequent debate in the National Council, this Chamber, too, accepted the more generous solution proposed by the Council of States.

Accordingly, all children of Swiss mothers married to a foreigner, can make use of the new regulations provided they were born after 1st January 1953.

Nobody must resent if the new law has not yet come into force. Like in every new legislation, the normal Referendum period has to be observed. We shall inform you of the details regarding acquisition of Swiss nationality by the new young Swiss abroad in one of the coming issues when the date is known of when the law comes into force.

It is useless to do anything about it before that time.

Assembly of the Swiss Abroad 1985 in Interlaken

Time: Friday, 23rd to Sunday, 25th August 1985

Theme: General Problems of the Swiss Abroad

The plenary session of the Assembly 1985 will not be devoted to a single theme as has been the custom, but it will be put at the disposal of general problems facing Swiss resident abroad. It will be open to all Swiss compatriots living outside their homeland, and it shall be a lively free discussion on questions you yourselves will put. In order to have a well-run and successful assembly, the questions must be put into some sort of order beforehand. We therefore invite you to tell us the problems facing you and which you would like to have brought up on this occasion, and at the same time to inform us whether you will be able to come to Interlaken and to speak personally on the subject. In order to answer your queries, we shall, if and when necessary, invite experts from many spheres who can deal with them. Your questions should be of a general and not a personal character and not refer to an individual country, but rather on the whole of Swiss communities abroad. As examples we give here: proposals for the structure of the Organization of Swiss Abroad; what do you expect of the Organization? What importance do you attach to our information?

Questions of a personal nature can be treated as usual during the traditional question time of the Secretariat of the Swiss Abroad. Very likely we shall not be able to treat all the problems which are brought up, and we shall have to give preference to those which are presented most frequently. If you want to present your problem personally at the assembly, a maximum of 3 minutes will have to be fixed for reasons of organization; this is roughly 1½

Basler Leckerli for the whole world

For five generations, we have devoted our whole affection to this delicious Basle speciality which is prepared according to a well-guarded recipe of honey, almonds, hazelnuts, genuine Basle kirsch and fine spices.

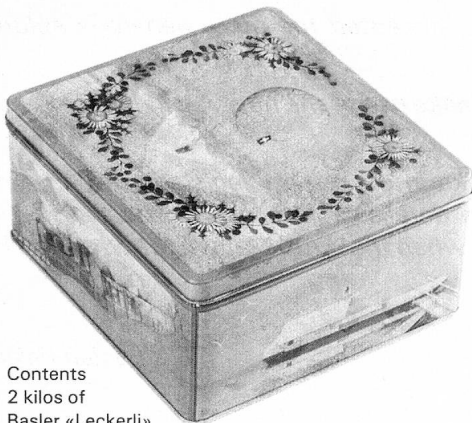

We also delight in taking care of the dispatch to all parts of the globe. Thanks to the special resistant wrapping, the Leckerli arrive in impeccable condition even after the longest journey.

The Leckerli are packed in a colourful tin designed by the artist Maja Grieder. Her subject: Switzerland. In gentle pastel drawings, she reproduces the atmosphere of a sleigh ride in the Engadine, a steaming mountain train, a paddle steamer on a Swiss lake, and a typical ferry boat on the Rhine in Basle – how could it be anything else. The lid suggests that the artist was dreaming: a balloon gently floating above snow-covered peaks...

We have no doubt that our Leckerli will please you even more in this poetically designed tin.

In the prices quoted are included postage, packing and insurance. Payment is very simple: Add a cheque in Swiss francs to your order or ask the Post Office, your bank or your friends in Switzerland to remit the money.

We are looking forward to sending you quite soon sweet greetings from Basle.
