NOTICE

Dear Readers,
Regretfully the time has come, after almost seven years, for me to tell you that other commitments mean the present issue (No 2/88) is the last in which I shall edit the local pages. I take this opportunity to sincerely thank you all for your contributions and help in so many other ways.

Nick Miller ... lookalike of skier Peter Müller ?

Now, I have the pleasure of introducing the new editor of the Local News, Great Britain. Mr Nick Miller has kindly volunteered to accept the post. Aged 29 years, he is a dual national and one of our new compatriots. He has his own publishing company and brings both professionalism and enthusiasm to his new endeavour. We can have confidence that our magazine is in good hands. I know you will continue the close collaboration between reader and editor that has been such a reassuring feature of my time in the post. I also know you would wish to join with me in wishing him every success.

COMMUNICATION

Regarding Nationality of Children of Swiss Women Abroad

Children born before 1st July 1985 but after the 31st December 1952 can still apply up to the end of June 1988 for recognition as Swiss citizens. Owing to the tremendous number of applications received, the responsible Swiss authorities, are considerably behind (in some cases up to two years) in dealing with them.

Those applicants who have still not received the cantonal decision are requested to refrain from sending enquiries about this matter to the Embassy.

It is pointed out;

- That you can regard the application as having been forwarded to Switzerland if your cheque covering the fees has been paid in by the Embassy.
- That all applications paid for and submitted by the end of June 1988 are legally valid even if the cantonal decision is taken after that date.

HALF-FARE TRAVEL CARD

RENEWAL CAMPAIGN: 13 months for the price of 12 months.

The Half-Fare Travel Card valid 1 year is a best-seller ! In order to continue this success next year, the following measures have been taken:

All holders of a 12 month Half-Fare Travel Card who want to renew it without interrupting the period of validity, are getting a 13th month free. For example:

Last day of validity 22nd May 1988
First day of validity of new card 23rd May 1988
Last day of validity of new card 22nd June 1989

First time buyers of this card, and those who do not make the immediate continuity of the validity with their old one, are not entitled to a free 13th month. This added incentive to Half-Fare Travel Card holders is valid with immediate effect and lasts until 30th November 1988.

WILLIAM TELL EXPRESS

A new, daily panoramic Express between Central Switzerland and the Ticino during the summer months is being introduced. The journey starts in Lucerne by paddle-steamer which takes you through picturesque countryside and places of historical interest to Fluelen. Dinner will be served in the Salon. Comfortable trains, with observation-cars, take you through the 15km long Gotthard tunnel to the 'highlights' of the south, Locarno and Lugano, each situated on the Swiss-Italian lakes. Of course this same journey can also be experienced in the reverse direction.

There will be a special guide on the train and a running commentary in several languages on board the ship. Also included is a detailed travel documentation and a William Tell Express souvenir. Snacks and refreshments are available on both the train and the steamer.

THE SWISS AND THE CITY OF LONDON

On 18th February, an Open Meeting took place at the Swiss Embassy Lecture Hall, organised jointly by the City Swiss Club and the new Helvetic Society, supported by members of the Unione Ticinese and the Swiss Mercantile Society. Sir John Wraight, KBE, CMG, former British Ambassador to Switzerland, addressed the large gathering on the historical relationship between the two countries, especially in the City of London.

As in his recently published book on Anglo - Swiss relations through the centuries The Swiss and the British, Sir John's vast knowledge based on detailed research and long experience was clearly demonstrated in a fascinating way. Of special interest was his excursion into the events surrounding the foundation of the City Swiss Club in 1856, the Club's archives having been partly lost in the war.

Mrs Anne Allen, on behalf of the New Helvetic Society, and Dr R.Duttweiler as President of the City Swiss Club, chaired the meeting and expressed thanks on behalf of all present for the excellent exposé.

It was a most rewarding event, followed by a reception kindly offered by the Swiss Ambassador and Madame Pictet.

Mail from Switzerland

Twelve times a year. Regularly, every month. Memories and discoveries. Things familiar and things new on sixty pages. In carefully researched texts in English, German, French and Italian. With big, impressive black-and-white photographs.

For example, mail from the Upper Valais, where the Celtic tribes known as the Walser first settled. Then from the various stages of their emigration to south and east, places where their culture still lives on in the local language, architecture, customs and way of life.

Later on you will get mail from Delémont, Switzerland's youngest cantonal capital. You will learn about the preparation and manufacture of the famous Swiss Federal maps. You will be able to look over shoulders of chocolate-makers of past and present... All subjects to be treated in future issues of SCHWEIZ SUISSE SVIZZERA SVIZRA SWITZERLAND, the magazine about the country it is named after.

- Yes, I should like to follow the Walser on their wanderings. Please send me this issue as a free specimen copy.
- I should like to get to know Switzerland better and wish to subscribe to your magazine for one year at SFr.55.- (12 issues, post-paid). I shall get the Walser number free after subscription.

MEMORIAL CONCERT FOR ALBERT FERBER

In the June 1987 issue of the Review an obituary appeared giving an appreciation of the well-known Swiss concert pianist Albert Ferber, his life in this country and his distinguished career which had taken him all over the world.

Four of his former pupils gave a Memorial Concert for their revered teacher at the Wigmore Hall on the 25th February. A number of works (Beethoven, Schubert, Fauré, Debussy and Rachmaninoff) which the artist himself had played so many times, were expertly performed.

The most moving item on the programme were six songs by Verlaine, which Ferber had set to music during the last four years of his life when a cruel illness prevented him from playing the piano. The music - first performance- was most impressive, making great demands both on soprano and piano. The last of the songs Ferber wrote three weeks before he died. It was a gripping and sad farewell.

The concert was a fitting tribute to a great pianist and the Hall was filled with friends and admirers.

The organisers are most grateful to the Credit Suisse, London, for their generous sponsorship. This enabled them to pass on all the admission receipts to the Department of Radiotherapy and Oncology of the University Hospital.

Anyone who was unable to attend the Memorial Concert but would like to support the worthy cause, can send a contribution to the above Department, c/o Prof. R.Souhami, UCH, Gower Street, London WC1E 6AU. MM
