A new Swiss language game

LINGO

Out of the vast amount of projects and products surrounding the 1991 Jubilee Year, there is no doubt that the first multi-lingual Swiss language game, LINGO, stands far out.

That gift of learning languages which slumbers, consciously or unconsciously, in the minds of each one of us will be gently and playfully nudged awake by LINGO. This is sure to lead to spontaneous inter-communication and discussion between all Switzerland's language groups. And it's all just part of the game.

The aim of the game is to arrive at a predetermined place in each of Switzerland's four linguistic areas as fast as possible. This is purely a matter of tactics, and you use dice, chips, and a spread of cards for language-knowledge, special assignments and destinations. Decisiveness, language improvisation and independent thinking are of far greater importance in LINGO than grammatical purity and preconceived opinions!

LINGO – the Swiss language game. For 4–7 players for ages

14–104. Price: Sfr. 60.–. Available from: sabe Verlag, Gottardstr. 52, CH-8002, Zurich.
