Holiday camps and youth exchange in the jubilee year

Young people discover Switzerland

Youth camps in Switzerland are already a hit, and the offers in festival year 98 are especially tempting. Do join us.

Na, ist doch nicht schlecht hier?" – "Che cosa dici?" – "Do you speak English?" – "Non, seulement français." Conversations like this are the most normal thing in the world at Swiss Abroad youth camps. The opportunity of getting to know the land of your parents or grandparents and at the same time spending two weeks of unforgettable holidays with Swiss Abroad your age from all over the world is both unique and irreplaceable. This is particularly true in jubilee year 1998, when there will be a special youth scheme enabling you to take part in the Congress for the Swiss Abroad.

Five camps for 15-25 year olds

- Easter snowsports camp: April 10–19, 1998, at Grimentz, Valais.
- Multi-sports and cultural summer camps at Baden, Aargau. First camp: July 19–August 1; second camp: August 2–15 – with the option of staying longer and taking part in the Congress for the Swiss Abroad: August 15–23.
- Rotary youth camp for jubilee year 1998. Three Lucerne rotary clubs are inviting 20 of their compatriots abroad aged 18–23 to a youth camp concentrating on cultural events. This will be held somewhere in central Switzerland from July 4/5 to 18/19, 1998.

- White Christmas in Switzerland: December 27, 1998–January 5, 1999, probably at Grächen, Valais.

Seven camps for 7–14 year olds

The Foundation for Young Swiss Abroad is also organising 1998 summer holiday camps in Switzerland for Swiss Abroad children. On application, the Foundation will consider a reduction in the camp cost (Sfr. 750.– to Sfr. 950.–), so that no child is unable to take part for financial reasons. Assistance with the cost of travel may also be applied for.

- B: July 6–25: Begnins, Vaud
- C: July 18–August 1: Steffisburg, Berne
- D: July 18–August 1: Rechberg, Aargau

Swiss Ping-Pong

Experience Switzerland at home

It started in 1991 as Action Encounter. It has continued as Swiss Ping Pong. In the upcoming year it aims to attract as many young Swiss Abroad as possible. It means staying with a Swiss host family. In 1998 there are two reasons why you will find it particularly worthwhile taking part in «Swiss Ping Pong». First it is a festival year for the Confederation, and second it can be combined with taking part in the Congress for the Swiss Abroad.

So why not visit your country of origin or the homeland of your parents in the coming year and combine your trip with a stay in a Swiss family? This is an opportunity which hundreds of your fellow-citizens all over the world have seized over the years. Learn about everyday life in Switzerland, and make friendships which will last much longer than your stay here. These are the most important rules of the game:

- We are proposing 3–8 days with either one or two host families.
- The scheme is for young people from age 18, single people, couples and families.
- You can take part as either guest or host, or as both; guests do not necessarily have to become hosts.
- Board and lodging is free of charge. Guests pay all travel costs. There is a lump-sum arrangement charge of Sfr. 70.– (regardless of the number of persons involved).

You can use the form alongside to obtain further information and application papers.

Learning to understand – youth exchange

Spend unforgettable holidays in Switzerland, get to know a new language and other customs, make friends for life, see what you already know with new eyes, learn to understand the strange, be a guest in a Swiss family. The Secretariat for the Swiss Abroad's exchange scheme makes all this possible. An introductory camp, visits to firms, information about possible studies, activities together - these things too are on the agenda of a six-week stay. All Swiss Abroad aged 16–25 may take part; language knowledge is an advantage, while interest in all things Swiss is indispensable.

The 1998 Congress for the Swiss Abroad in Baden and Lenzburg

Let's meet in Aargau

Modern Switzerland is celebrating its birthday. So Canton Aargau and the Organisation for the Swiss Abroad are inviting you to a special congress.

Migration and Meeting" is to be the main subject of the 76th Congress of the Swiss Abroad, which will be held in Lenzburg and Baden on August 21-23, 1998.

"Migration" because participants:

- will take a detailed look at forms of emigration yesterday, today and tomorrow;
- will talk about what it means today for Swiss citizens to "migrate", to live abroad;
- will discuss the importance of the Fifth Switzerland for our country's future,

"Meeting" because:

- the Congress of the Swiss Abroad is an occasion for the Fifth Switzerland to meet each other and to meet Switzerland;

- as many as possible of our compatriots abroad are encouraged to visit Switzerland in this festival year;

- Canton Aargau will be inviting you to numerous meetings over and above the congress agenda;

- this will be the first opportunity to combine taking part in the congress with a stay in a host family (see page 22).

This represents the programme of a normal congress, and it will surely be of great interest. It will include the formal opening, the plenary meetings, the address by a federal councillor, the banquet, the Sunday excursion. But it will be made into a special occasion by two further attractions: a cultural and encounter festival at Lenzburg Castle, and a special performance of the musical theatre piece which will be performed in Aargau for the festival year. In addition, the congress may be seen as an opportunity to take part in a trip back into Swiss history (see box) or to visit other jubilee events (see timetable of events in the centre pages of this issue).

A Swiss Review trip to take you back in Swiss history

Following the Congress for the Swiss Abroad, Swiss Review is proposing a 5-8 day trip back into Swiss history. Detailed information will appear in the next issue. But reserve now the week of August 24-30, 1998!

This special congress will be made possible thanks to the generous support of Canton Aargau, which will carry a substantial share of the cost. But the thing which will make the congress a really special occasion will be for as many Swiss Abroad as possible from as many countries as possible to take part.

MY SWITZERLAND:

What I love most about Switzerland is the mountains. I don't like our towns as much. You can't walk there because there are too many houses.

No, actually, we are not thinking about the first of August.
