FAREWELL MESSAGE OF THE CHARGE D'AFFAIRES OF SWITZERLAND, DR. J. P. WEBER, TO THE
SWISS COMMUNITY IN NEW ZEALAND

After a stay of four years in New Zealand, I am now being transferred to Saigon. On the verge of leaving Wellington for this most interesting new post, I would like to tell you all, my dear compatriots, how sad my wife and I are to part from a most hospitable country and from our friends of the Swiss Community.

We shall treasure the memory of the friendships we have made here, of the warm welcome you always so kindly gave us on each of our visits, of the wonderful moments we spent at the numerous and so successful functions organised by our Swiss Clubs (even when, in out of doors events, heavy rains tried in vain to dampen the good humour of young and old as sometimes happened), of the interesting talks and exchanges of views we have had with many of you on various subjects. The truly Swiss atmosphere and spirit of our Clubs have always made us feel nearer the home country whenever we had the pleasure of participating in your gatherings.

It is comforting in this time of our departure to think how numerous and dynamic the Swiss of New Zealand are. I am confident that the problems arising inevitably from the development of our community will be solved in the spirit of our national motto: "One for all, All for One".

With my renewed thanks for the kindness and friendship you have shown us, I express to you my warmest wishes for the welfare and prosperity of our community in this country and for your personal happiness.

JEAN-PIERRE WEBER,
Charge d'Affaires of Switzerland in New Zealand.
