ness. The monkey can easily swing from branch to branch without having to do some weight lifting first. The lion lies around for some 16 hours a day but when hunger strikes, he can run like the wind to catch his dinner. Would you expect the boa constrictor to flex its body muscles for days on end so that it will be fit to strangle its victim when the time comes? Of course not. The boa will do it without any prior training. And how about your friendly pussy-cat. He does not have to train for weeks before he climbs that tree. When the urge takes him, he just goes and does it.

So don't be surprised if some great experts will come along and tell us that all this fitness training is not only futile, but actually quite harmful to our tender bodies.

For centuries, experts have predicted the end of the world and since this never happened, they are now predicting its constant warming up although winters are growing colder and summers getting lousier, cooler and shorter by the year. No expert seems to be able to explain what happened to the long hot summers which lasted for weeks on end at the time of our golden youth.

But as we said at the beginning, everyone can be an expert. All you have to do is to pick a certain subject dear to your heart and stick with it. At every possible occasion, keep talking about it and never stop. You will obviously become an absolute bore amongst your friends, but sooner or later they will consider you as the unmitigated expert in your chosen field.

This is exactly what happened to your Editor. After some 50 issues of the Helvetia, everyone regards him as the perfect expert in journalism and tall story telling, but between you and me and the proverbial bed-post, I haven't a clue what I am doing. Thank goodness a team of experts from Hamilton will soon take over the production of the Helvetia so your present Editor can shed again his image of an expert journalist and revert back to be solely a top expert in travel....

MOTION

That due to the steady increase in the cost of medals over the years, it is proposed that as from 1998, the price for all medal competitions be increased from $3.00 to $4.00.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE BY THE HAMILTON SWISS CLUB FOR THE AGM.

The Hamilton Swiss club has notified each club secretary of details for this year's Society's AGM. Some points to note are:

1. The AGM will be held at the Glenview Motor Hotel at 2.00pm on Sunday 1 June (a map has been forwarded to your Secretary).

2. Accommodation is available at the Glenview at a cost of $86.00 per night for two people. Each additional person will be charged $10.00 per night.

3. For those people coming to Hamilton on Saturday, a light dinner will be provided at Swiss Craft premises, followed by a Gemütlicher Abend of bowling, jassen or just listening to Swiss music.

4. On Sunday evening, people are able to book dinner at the Glenview at a cost of $19.95 per head for a smorgasbord meal. Everyone will be able to remain in the conference room after dinner, where light entertainment will be provided.

5. IMPORTANT: We will need to know numbers of people requiring accommodation for either Saturday or Sunday evening, as well as numbers for the Saturday and Sunday evening meals. Please contact Hamilton's Secretary, Heidi Fransen (Ph. 07 847 1353) before 20 May.

MINUTES OF LAST YEAR'S AGM OF THE SWISS SOCIETY.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF THE SWISS SOCIETY HELD AT THE NEWMARKET CLUB IN AUCKLAND ON SUNDAY 2 JUNE 1996.

The AGM started at 2.30pm with Peter Schüpbach, Vice-President, welcoming everybody to the meeting.

Present: Hans Fitz (President), Peter Schüpbach (Vice-President), Henry Sigerist (Editor) and around 70 other members with voting rights.

Apologies: Mr. and Mrs. Hochuli, Mr and Mrs Enzler, Mr and Mrs Stucki, Mr and Mrs Hiestand, Mr and Mrs Dudli, Mr and Mrs Flühler, Mr and Mrs Hartmann.

The Minutes of the past AGM were taken as being read, having previously been published in the Helvetia. Moved by Hans Fitz and seconded by Syd Melville. The President's report was read and accepted. The President asked the members to stand for a minute's silence in remembrance of several members who passed away during the year.

As each member present at the AGM had been given a copy of the Financial Report, the President simply gave a brief outline of the financial situation, explaining that the very small loss was due to a drop of income through advertising. The report was accepted unanimously. A question was raised as to the higher costs for printing and typesetting and the President explained that this was due to the larger number of issues published during the year.

The Editor's report was read and accepted.

The report from the Delegate to the Swiss Abroad was read announcing the resignation of Jürg Stucki, the present Delegate.

The Riflemaster's report was read and accepted.

The motion for the number of Helvetia issues to remain at 10 per year and the subscription to remain unchanged was accepted unanimously.

One nomination had been received for a replacement for Jürg Stucki as Delegate for the Swiss Abroad: Heinz Leuenberger. His nomination was accepted unanimously.

The President pointed out that no reports had been received for the past 3 years from the Delegate for the Swiss Abroad on any decisions made in Switzerland affecting the Clubs and the Society. He urged any Swiss visiting Switzerland and attending the "Auslandschweizertag" to report back to the Society.

Marie-Therese Melville-Schöpfer, as Deputy Delegate to the Swiss Abroad pointed out that all items concerning the Swiss Abroad are being regularly reported in the Swiss Revue. She advised that the next "Auslandschweizertag" will be held in Neuenburg on August 23, 1996.

According to the rules, the Vice-President had to step down and a new Vice-President from the club taking over the Swiss Society's affairs the following year had to be nominated. Moved by Herbert Staheli and seconded by Ronaldo Rust, Beatrice Leuenberger was elected as new Vice-President of the Swiss Society.

As there was no resignation from the remaining Committee, Syd Melville moved that the committee be re-elected, seconded by Marie-Therese.

It was agreed that Carmen Fitz-Gordon, although absent from New Zealand, would remain as Secretary/Treasurer of the Society with Werner Stebler as a co-opted member of the Committee.

Herbert Staheli advised that the Hamilton Club had already selected the Committee members to take over the running of the Swiss Society next year. He announced that Ronaldo Rust will be the new Editor.

GENERAL BUSINESS.

Heinz Leuenberger pointed out that for inter-club smallbore shooting competitions, the rules should all be the same. It was decided to leave this matter in the hands of the clubs' Riflemasters to sort out.

Hans Fitz suggested that it might be a good idea in future for the club presidents and secretaries to meet just prior to the AGM to discuss any matters of general interest to all clubs.

A question was raised as to how many members the Swiss Society had. As the figure was not available, it was suggested to have it printed in one of the future Helvetia issues. The President also pointed out that there was a certain discrepancy between the number of copies sent out to members and the amount of subscriptions received from the clubs. André Schleicher advised that for the cowbell competition, there was no hope for his club ever to be able to compete on even terms with other clubs in the "Steinstossen" competition. He suggested that "Steinstossen" should be replaced by some other sport such as boule (pétanque) as a less strenuous sport. Herbert Staheli replied that the clubs could not always muster their strongest men for this competition and that therefore the odds were more or less even for everyone. Marie-Therese Melville-Schöpfer thanked the Committee for
