HELLO CHILDREN!

Where was the first newspaper printed?

The first printed newspaper appeared in Germany in the late 15th century in the form of a news pamphlet or broadsheet, often highly sensational in content.

The history of newspapers goes back at least five centuries. In Renaissance Europe handwritten newsletters circulated privately among merchants, passing along information about everything from wars and economic conditions to social customs and 'human interest' features.

In the English-speaking world, the earliest predecessors of the newspaper were corantos, small news pamphlets produced only when some event worthy of notice occurred. The first successful published title was The Weekly News of 1622. The first true newspaper in English was the London Gazette of 1666.

FACT FILE

The history of printing can be traced back thousands of years, to when people in the Middle East learned to press carved designs into wet clay. Today, publishers can complete every step in the production of books, magazines and newspapers by electronic means.
