Why do we get goosepimples?

Our skin goes pimply if we get cold. The little pimples are called goose pimples because they make the skin look like that of a plucked goose. What happens is that little muscles in the skin raise the hairs on our skin, producing little bumps or pimples. Our skin does this to try and thicken our covering of hair to keep us warm.

PUPPY MAZE

A farmer wants to cross a river in his boat. He has a cabbage, a goat and a fox. The boat is small; he can load only the cabbage or the goat or the fox. If he leaves the goat with the fox behind, the fox will eat the goat. If he leaves the goat and the cabbage behind, the goat will eat the cabbage. How can he get the fox, the goat and the cabbage safely across?
