MONTHLY REPORT ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE OF ZURICH.

By Leu and Co's. Bank Limited, Zurich.

As it was the case with the industrial crisis, the reaction on the Swiss stock exchanges appeared later than in some other countries. This reaction however then reached all departments of the exchange with the exception of the loans of the Confederation, the Federal State Railways, the Cantons, the more important cities and some public utilities. The bonds of a great many trust companies and industrial corporations, which some years ago have been very popular and considered well secured, are to-day quoted at such low levels, which hardly seem justified. To some extent these low quotations may also be due to the fact, that there are no buyers in the market, even when the offer is a very small one. Under these circumstances it is not astonishing that with a few exceptions the share market does not give a very encouraging picture.

Therefore the activity of the exchange is for a great deal limited to business in State and City bonds, with some transactions also taking place in public utilities. The yield basis of these issues is at the present time around 4%. To consolidate the floating debt and to cover current requirements the Swiss Confederation has issued this last week a new four per cent. loan of 100 millions Swiss Francs at 99.25% and interest. This issue was a great success and was placed almost exclusively in our country, contrary to some former loans, which have interested many foreign markets.

As regards the development of quotations in Swiss securities during the month of October, a rather firm tendency was evident for interest-bearing bonds. Shares of banks and insurance companies were quiet, with almost no change. The shares of Swiss Trust Companies with important interests in South American Countries experienced for some time a noticeable betterment in their quotations, due to favourable reports received from these countries. Later on a reaction was evident in this section of the market and it was difficult for some issues to hold their former higher level. In the industrial share market there is to be registered a set-back in the Aluminium Neuhausen, whereas the Maschinenfabrik Oerlikon advanced rather sharply, due to the statement issued by this Company that due to the still lasting shrinkage in their business a part repayment on the capital will be made shortly; this firmness was even more astonishing as it is for the first time in more than twenty years that this Company passed the dividend on the share capital. The common shares of the well-known Nestlé Company distinguished themselves through a remarkable stability and are still considered as most attractive ones. Also some other shares of the food industry as well as those of the electrical industry were able to hold their level, whereas other industrial securities mostly declined.
