FEDERAL.

SWITZERLAND AND JAKOB CASE.

The Swiss Federal Government's latest Note The Swiss Federal Government's latest Note to the German Government in regard to the kidnapping of Herr Jakob states that as it will apparently not be possible to settle this dispute by the ordinary diplomatic methods, and as it is indispensable that the circumstances of the kidnapping be elucidated in order to prevent that regrettable incident having an adverse effect on the traditional friendly relations, existing be regretation mettern along an areverse elect on the traditional friendly relations existing be-tween the two countries, the Swiss Federal Government have resolved to have recourse to the 1921 German-Swiss Treaty of Arbitration and to submit the case to the arbitral procedure provided by that treaty.

The Swiss Federal Government note that Germany is ready to disapprove the violation of Swiss sovereignty by German officials, but that she contests that German authorities took part in the kidnapping of Herr Jakob. The Swiss Government (the Note continues) cannot understand how the German Government can say that the accomplices of Dr. Wesemann are unknown to the German authorities, for the papers of these men were examined by the frontier police at Weil, where they were stopped, together with Herr Jakob and one of the kidnappers, Dr. Richter, was an official of the German State Secret Police.

PROTOCOLS OF ZION.

PROTOCOLS OF ZION.

When the trial relating to the so-called Protocols of the Elders of Zion was resumed in Berne, the Court heard a long anti-Jewish speech by Herr Ulrich Fleischhauer, of Erfurt. He is the expert nominated by the defence. His doctrine of intolerance, propounded sometimes in a voice which shook with fanatical fervour, was strangely out of place in the free democratic atmosphere of the Swiss Court.

The German expert argued that the so-called Protocols of Zion had been compiled long before the satire by a Parisian lawyer named Joly was written, and that Joly had merely repeated them in a new form. He did not say whom he considers to have been the author.

Herr Fleischhauer described the revelations, exploding the theories about the protocols which appeared in 1921 as "fairy tales," and spoke at great length of the alleged Jewish influence in the international Press. He accused, for example, certain well-known newsagencies as being subject to this influence. ject to this influence.

This will be the first occasion on which a legal verdict will be passed on the much discussed protocols. For many years they have been the favourite weapon of anti-Semitic agitators.

They were alleged to have been formulated at secret meetings of a Zionist Congress in Basle in 1897. In 1921 the whole theory was exploded by the discovery of a satire printed in 1865 by a Parisian lawyer, M. Joly. The so-called protocols were shown to have been merely a copy of M. Joly's dialogue.

GERMAN-SWISS CLEARING AGREEMENT.

Substantial concessions by Germany's creditors in Switzerland in the interests of trade be-tween the two countries are the feature of the new German-Swiss clearing agreement just concluded to take the place of that of July 26 last.

The new agreement became necessary in view The new agreement became necessary in view of the decline of the German export surplus to Switzerland. The ratio of exports to imports in German trade with Switzerland had dropped from about 5 to 1 a few years ago to 2 to 1 in the first quarter of 1935. The new agreement provides:—

(1) Swiss exports of goods to Germany will be limited to 14,000,000f. (£930,000) a month.

(2) From the monthly payments into the clearing account at Zurich another 1,500,000f. (£100,000) will be set aside for additional trading costs and 4,100,000f. (£270,000) for the Reichsbank principal for service of interest to standstill creditors.

(3) Amounts in excess of this 19,600,000f. will be paid as to 60 per cent. into the transfer fund for cash payments to Swiss capital creditors; 30 per cent. for amortization of German commodity debts to Switzerland; and 10 per cent. to the Reichsbank for its own use.

(4) The Swiss capital creditors will thus in future receive in cash only a portion of the 4½ per cent. interest to which they were previously en-titled; the rest they will receive in bonds repayable in 10 years.

(5) Expenses of German tourists in Switzer-land will be balanced as hitherto by deliveries of German coal.

(6) Swiss standstill creditors have agreed to reductions averaging $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. in their interest claims, thus abandoning their privileged position compared with the other creditors.

Ernest Hanhart, doctor of medicine and a lecturer at the University in Zurich, Hans Buser, town councillor at Tobel (near Langnau s/Albis) and Mrs. Schaer of Zurich. A mistake must have been made by the French authorities as these three people were on a scientific expedition. The Federal Political Dept. has taken the matter up with the French Foreign Office.

Surprise has been caused by the announcement that the "Volksbank of Willisau," a bank with a share capital of 2,100,000f., has applied for a moratorium. It is not expected that depositors and bondholders will lose any money, but a sacrifice will have to be made by shareholders.
