EDITOR'S POST-BAG.

The Editor,

The Swiss Observer,

23, Leonard Street,
London, E.C.2.

Dear Sir,

Re First August Celebrations.

Once again I have had a most charming evening on 1st August with the Swiss Colony in Florence. I am sure that every one of those present on that evening will not forget it for a long, long time. The official speech made by Consul Steinhäuslin was probably the best I have ever heard on such an occasion, and also the whole evening was arranged in a very simple way, so that all Swiss could afford to be present, which made it, what I would call, really democratic.

Returning to London I have mentioned this enjoyable evening to a number of my Swiss Friends, who seem to have felt they have really missed something, due to the lack of such an evening in London. I fully realise that the Swiss Colony always has a well arranged Swiss evening in June, and I fully realise that it is not an easy matter to have two such festivals for the Swiss Colony within two months, but, under the circumstances, would it not be possible to have this June meeting postponed to the 1st August, the anniversary of our Confederation?

I am quite sure that this year particularly a large number of Swiss here have missed such a national gathering, especially as this year's collection of specially issued stamps, postcards and the usual badges, are to be used for the Swiss abroad. The London Colony is undoubtedly one of the largest, and still 1st August passes, for the Swiss here, the same as any other day, unless they have been able to listen in on the radio to some of the Swiss festivals at home and the official speeches delivered on that day.

When this subject was brought up previously I was told that on August 1st so many Swiss are away on their holidays, but is this a real reason for those who are in London to be denied their celebration? Those who are lucky enough to be in Switzerland on 1st August naturally do not need 1st August celebrations in London in June, but those who cannot go home would certainly very much appreciate a Swiss festival on 1st August, on similar lines to the one which is usually held in June in the Central Hall, Westminster. That festival, however, would always have to be held on 1st August and definitely on no other date, as if it were held on the previous, or following Saturday, or some other time, it would again lose its raison d'être, as I certainly could not imagine an American Colony here that celebrates 4th July on any other day than the 4th July, or any French Colony that celebrates 14. Juillet on any other date.

Hoping that these lines will help to give the Swiss Colony in London their future 1st August celebrations,

I remain,

Yours very truly,

S. M. BRUGGISSER.
