The new Federal Councillor was then introduced and a discussion concerning the distribution of the various Federal Departments followed. The new Federal Councillor succeeds M. Last Thursday afternoon Solothurn gave a hearty welcome to the new Federal Councillor, Dr. Walter Stämpfli. The train on which Dr. Stämpfli travelled to the capital of his home canton stopped in Gerlafingen, where he has lived for nearly twenty years as Director of the von Roll Iron and Steel Works, and also at Büren, his native village. Deputations greeted him in both places as well as, of course, later on and with due pride in Solothurn.

(“The Times,” 19.7.1940):— It is reported from an Italian source that the armistice dispositions prohibiting navigation between France and oversea territories may soon be suspended and free navigation allowed. It is said that the Italo-Swiss negotiations now taking place in Italy are almost terminated and Italy is ready to allow the ships which Switzerland has chartered for her revictualling to discharge their cargoes at certain French ports.

Charles Hudson, and the guide Michel Croz, who lost their lives during the first ascent of this peak, when they were accompanied by Edward Whymper, who escaped by the breaking of the rope.

Since September, the Rhine has been a no-man's-land, and not one ton of cargo has been added to the 2,110,000 tons the river fleet carried into Switzerland during the three years preceding the war.

In preparation for the opening day, the Swiss Rhine Fleet of 241 boats totalling 126,000 tons has been repainted and fitted out for service again.

(“Daily Express,” 23.7.1940):— Swiss summer holiday-makers are getting winter sports six months early. Snow has fallen heavily throughout the Engadine, covering mountains and valleys and snapping telegraph lines.

Twenty-five sleighs made their appearance at St. Moritz yesterday, and 200 holiday-makers had a snow-ball fight. This has been one of the coldest summers Switzerland has known for forty years.

MAILS TO SWITZERLAND.

Several subscribers have complained to us that no mails have been received from Switzerland though it is now more than a fortnight since the official notification of the resumption of the service has been published. It would appear that there has been a tremendous accumulation and before recent mail is released or distributed, some of these arrears are being cleared out; this would explain that papers are now being delivered dated June 14th to June 18th. Under the circumstances we would again recommend the use of the Radio for urgent communications. Messages sent by this “Night Letter Telegram” service are delivered the following morning and the minimum charge is 2/7½d. for 25 words incl. address. The special forms issued by the British post offices contain the necessary instructions.

At the time of going to press the following wire received by the Swiss Legation has been handed to us for the information of our readers; it was sent by the “Office Fédéral de Guerre pour les Transports” and reads:—

Paquets postaux Suisse Angleterre sont acceptés dès 20 juillet via Lisbonne — envois marchandises exportation suisses en wagons groupage Cerbere Lisbonne possible.
