NEWS AT RANDOM

The following news items are collected from a variety of sources as since our last issue no newspapers have been received from Switzerland the latest daily being dated January 7th.

A report of the Department for Public Economy, concerning old age pensions and social services recently came up for discussion by the Federal Council. The Government have a sum of Frs.18,000,000 at their disposal for such purposes, covering the period up to December 31st, 1941. From then on up to 1945 the funds at their disposal will not exceed Frs. 12,000,000. This sum represents in part the income under the Old Age Insurance scheme and Frs.4.5 million are expected from the administration of the alcohol monopoly. The Federal Council have invited the Department for Public Economy to submit proposals as to the best use that could be made of the available funds.

Customs Revenue in January 1941 show with 13.6 million Francs a reduction of 6.8 million Francs as against January of the previous year. In the same way the loss in December 1940 compared to the previous year amounted to 12.3 million Francs. The comparison between the yearly income of 1939 and 1940 shows a reduction from 305.3 million to 230.6 million respectively.

The Federal Council has authorised a Grant of Frs.4,250,000 for the construction of granaries.

The new Finnish Minister, M. Tapio Voionmaa, was received in audience on the 14th March by Federal President M. Wetter in the presence of M. Pilet-Golaz, Head of the Political Department.

M. Max Nef, until now Bernese editor of the Thurgauer Zeitung, has been made Head of the newly created "Office de Liaison" between the Government and the Press.

The 1940 report of the Swiss Federal Railways shows an unexpected profit of frs.13,300,000. The sum of frs.181,000,000 figured on the credit side of the accounts and frs. 167,000,000 on the debit side.

The Federal War Transport Department will soon be able to place another ship at the disposal of Swiss Overseas Trade. The ship in question is the Villa Franca, which will sail towards the end of March/beginning of April and will carry cargo via Lisbon.

In a speech made on the 21st February, Dr. Rossi mentioned that the Federal expenses for the year 1940 amounted to 2 milliard 8 million Francs. In conjunction with this he stressed the fact that taxes in Switzerland were still less heavy than abroad, where the State demands up to one third of the income.

On the 11th March the Department for Public Economy ruled that no new shops must be opened.

M. Henri Martin, our Minister in Warsaw until the collapse of Poland, has been appointed Swiss Chargé d'Affaires at Lisbon.

Though diplomatic relations do not exist between our country and Russia a trade agreement has been concluded after many weeks of protracted negotiations. The exchange of goods is to amount to over six millions £ sterling in the first year on each side, but it requires a good deal of imagination to visualise regular traffic under existing conditions. We shall export tools, instruments and machinery against cereals, oil products and cotton.

A proposal to restore the free and unrestricted distillation of wines and spirits has been rejected by a national plebiscite which took place on Sunday, the 9th inst. The voting was not as convincing as expected, there being 452,076 against and 301,658 in favour of the change. The monopoly enjoyed by the State will therefore continue.

The captain of the Winterthur fire brigade, Hans Hofmann, received fatal injuries when attending with his company a conflagration which totally destroyed the inn "Zum Rössli" at Aesch. The owner of the tavern, Ulrich Siegenthaler, was absent on military service.

The activities of the notorious Arthur Fonjallaz, a former colonel in the Swiss army, have come to a timely end by the judgment of the Swiss Federal Court at Lausanne, which sentenced him to three years' imprisonment for espionage. The case was heard in camera and several others, among them two Germans, received minor sentences. The "Evening Standard" (March 1st) adds the following: "Fonjallaz lived in a handsome villa at the side of Lake Geneva, and received many visitors. He travelled a great deal in Germany and Italy and once tried to form a Fascist organisation in Switzerland.

Eighteen months ago he was arrested on the Swiss-German frontier while attempting to reach Germany.

His son was also arrested, together with several other Swiss and foreigners, amongst them pretty women.

The son and another accused were acquitted because of lack of proof. Several others, mainly foreigners, were condemned to serve sentences of from six to twelve months in prison after which they will be expelled.

A new society for the exploitation of minerals from the Fricktal has been founded.

Somewhat startling statements are attributed to Dr. Carl Brüscheiler by the "Catholic Times," February 21st; it reads as follows:

"The Catholic population of Switzerland now almost equals the Protestant in number, says Dr. Carl Brüscheiler, head of the Federal Bureau of Statistics at Berne, in a review of recent population trends.

While at the turn of the century there were 266 births annually to every 1,000 married women capable of child-birth, the average to-day is only 125. The minimum required to maintain at least a stable population level would be 170.

No less than 30 per cent. of the married couples in Switzerland are childless; 2 per cent. have only one, and another 20 per cent. only two children, while at least three would be required to maintain population stability.

As far as church membership is concerned, there were 185 children born to every 1,000 Catholics, 130 to every 1,000 Protestants, and 75 to every 1,000 Jews.

The danger from avalanches in the mountains has diminished considerably in view of the dry weather. However, there is still danger of smaller snowslides on overhanging slopes.
