To help meet the needs of international tourism, European railways are this summer starting coach services linked together into a vast network called "Europa Bus". By using the same means of transport, passengers can travel from one end of the network to the other, or they can cover part of the journey by rail and the rest by coach. The services are being organised on the most up-to-date lines with luxury coaches staffed by hostesses.

As regards Switzerland, the following services will come into operation on June 1st: Bâle—Lucerne—Interlaken—Montreux and Montreux—Milan.

These routes will be connected at Bâle with coach services to Frankfurt, Munich, Innsbruck, Amsterdam, Brussels, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Narvik and Milan, and with other services going to Venice, Florence, Rome, Naples and Genoa. Another service will link Lugano and Locarno with Turin (Italy) and Nice (France). Finally, passengers travelling by rail from Geneva to Bordeaux can continue their journey by the regular coach to Burgos, Madrid, Seville and Morocco.

Reduced-price tickets will be available for children, and luggage less than 66 lbs. a person will be carried free of charge.

Tickets and seat reservations can be obtained from all the principle Swiss Stations and Travel Agencies, from whom full particulars can be obtained.
