BASLE FAIR. Invitation.

In Switzerland it is the custom that, when the roof has been added to a new building (not necessarily complete in itself) the builders erect a small tree from the branches of which brightly-coloured streamers flutter in the wind, and this is the signal for a celebration.

When planning the new three-storey building, containing halls 10-21, the dimensions of which provide a very appreciable extension to the existing exhibition area, the architect decided to adopt entirely new methods enabling him to present a construction which may truly be said to be representative of the Swiss spirit of initiative. When the new building is finally ready for occupation there will also be many changes in the general presentation of the wide range of exhibits covering every aspects of Swiss production, the variety and excellence of which have become so well known throughout the world.

At a time when the completion of the new building marks the beginning of a new epoch in its own development, the Swiss Industries Fair highly appreciates the opportunity thus provided to display to foreign visitors from all over the world from the 8th to the 18th May 1954 the results of the unremitting and conscientious labour of a nation and particularly the most recent achievements of Swiss industrial production. On behalf of the exhibitors, the authorities of the Fair itself and the municipal authorities of Basle the management extends to you a very hearty welcome.

The Director: Th. Brogle.
