It has granted the Cantonal Government a credit of 30 million in order that the preliminary work may be started and it has allowed the authorities to proceed with the necessary expropriations. Paper consumption in Switzerland.

Switzerland uses 850,000 cubic meters of wood, annually, for the manufacture of paper. Of this amount, half a million cubic meters are supplied by the domestic forestry industry, the remainder having to be imported. In 1900, the quantity of paper consumed in Switzerland represented 33 pounds per inhabitant and per year. In 1957, the figure attained was 172 pounds, whereas in the United-States and in Canada it amounted to 420 pounds. The total production obtained from the Swiss forests amounts to 3.8 million cubic meters per year.
