The Swiss Government has asked for the recall of Jaroslav Jelinek, a member of the Czechoslovak Legation in Berne, after the sentencing on 17th April of three Czechoslovak citizens on charges of spying in Switzerland. The sentences ranged up to 12 years' imprisonment. It was stated in evidence that Jelinek received material from one agent and paid another agent 20,000.— frs.

The official statement says that for many years Czechoslovaks have abused their diplomatic privileges in Switzerland, and a strong protest has been made against their secret service activities.

At the same time it is announced that another Czechoslovak agent has been arrested in Basle, and will be charged with political and military spying and other offences. It is stated that he was trained by the secret service in Prague, and entered Switzerland on the pretence that he was the illegitimate son of a Swiss woman.

"The arrest of this man, who could have been extremely dangerous for Switzerland under his clever guise as a Swiss citizen has thus", the announcement adds, "stopped the activity of another illegal resident of the Czechoslovak secret service".
