promoted head pastry six months later.

Born in England of a catering family — his father was Swiss and came from Corzoneso, Tessin and his mother Italian — Mr. Bozzini was educated in this country.

A specialist in his field, he has created sweets for many of the Dorchester's celebrities and distinguished guests. On June 13th last, he served a Marquis de Framboises to the Queen when she dined in the Dorchester's Penthouse Suite with officers of the Welsh Guards. His greatest talent lay perhaps in working with spun sugar and he produced elaborate and artistic sugar baskets for all the hotel's great occasions. Another achievement which he has perfected together with the Dorchester's Maitre Chef, Mr. Eugene Kaufeler (Swiss), is to serve souffles to 500 or more guests at ballroom functions at one time.

Mr. Bozzini is married and lives in Morden, Surrey. We should like to congratulate him for this unique career.

THE ANGLO-SWISS SOCIETY CELEBRATES ITS SILVER JUBILEE

The Anglo-Swiss Society was founded in February 1948 at an Extraordinary General Meeting held at the Dorchester. This Silver Jubilee was celebrated this year with an informal dance at the Hurlingham Club, Putney, on June 12th. The evening was up to the standard of this beautiful setting. The lovely neo-classing Club House, surrounded by acres of beautiful grounds, provided the ideal venue for a summer function which was attended by a great many members and their friends. A cold meal was served at the beginning of the evening. It included pheasant p te, fresh salmon, mixed salad and fresh strawberry melba. This was followed after 9 p.m. by dancing outside to a four-piece Bill Savill Band.

Compatriot manages new machine-tool holding in Sussex

Matchless Machines Ltd., a company managed by a compatriot, Mr. John P. Seiffert, and founded by his father, has formed a new company called Matchless Machines Holdings Limited. This company will co-ordinate the activities and expansion of all the following subsidiary companies: Advanced Developments Engineering Ltd. (Bletchley), Matchless Machines Ltd. (Horsham), MML Industrial Equipment Ltd. (Horsham) MML Manufacturing Ltd. (Horsham); the O-Clip and Coupling Company Ltd. (Horsham) Production Tube Cutting Ltd. (Hrsham). Mr. Seiffert has been appointed Group Managing Director of this new holding whose activities range from spark erosion machines to grinding and milling machines.

In May last year, we reported on an exhibition of machine tools that was held at the Matchless Machines premises in Horsham. We were then presented with a scintillating display of Swiss technology, ingenuity and workmanship. Mr. Seiffert, who has been a member of the City Swiss Club for two years, was trained in machine-tool technology at the Winterthur Technikum. We should like to congratulate him for his appointment and wish Matchless Machines Holdings a prosperous future.
