1. Summer nightgown in fine striped muslin, trimmed with ruching; softly feminine in appearance.
2. « PYJA-SHORT » (Regd. Trade Mark) for night and day, in multi-coloured checked zephyr, various original colour combinations; very comfortable elastic « NOBELT » at waist.
3. Uncrushable muslin nightgown, the waistline accentuated by the fine pleated skirt; very gay check in pink and blue or green with lemon predominating.
4. A very simple nightgown in white batiste, with lace trimming giving a quaint old-fashioned effect. White is again in very great demand!
5. Muslin nightgown with a very new finish that gives a polka dot effect. This fabric needs no ironing. Modern and becoming style, suitable for all sized waists.

The Freshness of Cotton

How is it that the word « cotton » always evokes so many colourful visions in our minds? Bright southern skies, warm sunshine, plantations where the precious fibre is picked by negroes singing at their work. The women wear brightly coloured scarves on their heads — as brightly coloured as the loin-cloths, sarongs of batik and pareos under other skies. Young girls in romantic dresses of organdie and muslin, so fresh and cool for the warm nights of Carolina and Louisiana... Reminiscences of so many impressions long forgotten — from books read and films that one has seen. Cotton is always a crisp, fresh fabric. And because women have rediscovered how light these cotton fabrics are, how practical and pleasant to wear, and how easy to wash, all kinds of delightful garments are now being made of them. Like these long and cool nightgowns, like this youthful amusing little novelty, which is, all at the same time, pyjamas for the night, shorts for exercising in the morning or for wearing around the house, in the garden or on the beach... The fabrics? Batiste, zephyr, muslin. The colours? White, bright and pale pinks, yellows from orange to lemon, greens, blues from turquoise to slate-grey, stripes and checks in surprising combinations, gay and bold but always in perfect taste. The shape? Simple, practical, youthful and attractive styles with sometimes an amusing mixture of classical and modern in the details and the trimmings. The great comfort of these cottons, their charm, freshness and the loveliness of the models would be as nothing if they did not possess sound practical qualities too. The fabric is shrinkproof, sometimes uncrushable (mainly for the more sporting models, as for batiste lingerie an uncrushable finish would make the fabric lose its silky softness), the colours are light- and wash-resistant; and the white lingerie naturally has the advantage of being able to be boiled as often as desired without any risk of damage.

These garments are extremely well cut and sewn, and this together with the many other advantages make these models minor masterpieces, as pleasant to wear as they are pleasing to the eye.
