The English Teachers Association, Switzerland

A Profile

Founded in 1983 and open to anyone interested in English teaching in public and private education, ETAS has grown in three years to over 550 members nationwide. Seventeen local branches throughout Switzerland hold regular meetings with invited speakers or on special topics. Regional and national author-tours are organized, as well as a once-a-year convention, annual general meeting, and branch council. The convention, held in Neuchâtel for the past two years, has attracted over 200 participants, with many publishers and speakers coming from abroad. Balance is sought in ETAS between small local groups working together and communication with the international EFL community.

Probably the most popular feature of ETAS is the members' quarterly newsletter containing 40 to 50 pages of practical teaching tips and articles on teacher development. Written mostly by the members themselves, the newsletter reflects the professionalism and enthusiasm that are an integral part of this young organisation.

ETAS Membership fee: 30 Sfr. per year. Institutional membership also available.
